The damage to the boat is slight, and the entire damage to the boat and cargo can be covered with $1,000. The freight thrown overboard was for Cincinnati.

THE CAPITAL.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NOMINATIONS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 19, 1869.

The only nomination submitted to the Senate to-day was William Richardson as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

THE COMMITTEE OF WAYS AND MEANS

Called in a body to-day upon President Grant, Secretary Boutwell and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. They had a long talk with Mr. Boutwell upon money affairs, in the course of which he declared his determination to sell gold publicly, never in private. He believed he had power to invest the surplus gold in bonds, and thought he would do so. He informed the Committee that the income from customs was increasing. The conversation with Gen. Grant was mainly of a social character.

NEW SPANISH MINISTER.

Mr. Roberts, the new Spanish Minister, to-day presented a letter of credence to the President and made a few remarks expressive of the desire of his country for the sympathies of the United States with the new order of things in Spain. He would endeavor by all the means in his reach to maintain and strengthen the friendly relations which always existed between Spain and the United States. The President replied: "Mr. Roberts, I am happy to receive you as the Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of Spain in the United States. The recent events in that country, to which you advert, have excited, and will continue to maintain a kindly interest here, hoping as we do that they may ultimately lead to an increase in the welfare and happiness of the people of Spain. The disposition which you express, to exert yourself during your mission to the end that these familiar relations, which have always existed between the two countries, may be strengthened, will be cordially reciprocated by me."

NAVAL AFFAIRS.

The Tuscarora, Commander Queen, and Kearsarge, Commander Thornton, have been ordered from the Pacific to the North Atlantic Squadron, and will report to Rear Admiral Hoff off Cuba.

Dispatches from Admiral Hoff, dated Havana, March 12th, say, that in company with the newly appointed Consul General, Mr. Hall, he had called on the Captain General of Cuba, and secured the release of Mr. Triestez, an American citizen, native of Cuba, who was a short time since arrested on a charge of conspiracy against the Government. The action of the Captain General in this case was marked by great courtesy, he having ordered the immediate release of the prisoner, although the charges were serious.

SPECIAL POST OFFICE AGENTS.

The Postmaster General has ordered the commissions of Special Agents of the Department, who are not under pay and assignment, to be revoked from and after the 31st of March. The commissions of all Special Agents expire 31st of December, and must then be renewed.

NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED.

The Senate to-day confirmed Elizabeth Van Lew, Postmistress at Richmond, Va.; John Titus, United States Judge for Arizona, and Dudly N. Haynes, Pension Agent at Brooklyn, vice Porter, resigned.

TO BE RELEASED.

The President has directed Brevet Lieutenant Colonel Pease to be relieved from duty as Professor of Military Tactics at State University of Wisconsin, at the end of the present college term.

GUARD DISCONTINUED.

The President to-day ordered the discontinuance of the military guard at the White House, and hereafter the protection of the premises will be in charge of the doorkeeper and three police officers.

BILL SIGNED.

The President signed the bill for the further security of equal rights in the District of Columbia.

CUSTOMS.

The Custom receipts from March 8th 13th inclusive were $3,506,503.

THE CASE OF LONGSTREET.

The case of General Longstreet, nominated as Surveyor of the Port at New Orleans, was under consideration yesterday by the Senate Committee. It is understood that a majority of the Committee were opposed to the confirmation, not especially because General Longstreet was a leading rebel during the rebellion, but on the ground that there is an abundance of men who were loyal to the government from the breaking out of the rebellion to the close, and who ought to be provided for in preference to the class to which General Longstreet belongs. The Committee, however, decided to report his name to the Senate without recommendation, and let that body take such action as they may think proper.

PUBLIC DEBT.

The next public debt statement will show the precise condition of the Treasury books at the close of business on the 31st instant, instead of being withheld for several days, as formerly, to await returns from New York or other important points. This is a radical change. Secretary Boutwell is much pleased with the condition of the Treasury as exhibited in the customs and revenue receipts, which, since the first of January, have been unusually large and are increasing steadily. The income taxes, which will soon come in, will swell the figures largely.

REGISTER OF THE TREASURY.

A number of Pennsylvania Congressmen called to see President Grant this morning about the Registryship of the Treasury, having heard that it was to be given to Colonel Burnside instead of Ex-Congressman Allison, of their State. The President told them that Secretary Boutwell had nominated Mr. Allison, and he would be appointed unless the Secretary should recommend somebody else. He added that he had chosen his own Cabinet, but intended to leave subordinate appointments to them and hold them responsible.

QUAKERS AND THE INDIANS.

Secretary Cox says the President has fully determined on the policy of sending Quakers to deal with the Indians, and will soon begin appointing prominent members of that Society as Superintendents and Indian Agents.

MISSION TO RUSSIA.

Governor Curtin, it is stated, has accepted the Russian Mission, and is making preparations for his journey. He will be accompanied by Col. A. K. McClure, of Franklin.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

[FIRST SESSION.]

SENATE: Debate on Tenure-of-Office Act Continued Without Action. HOUSE: Indian Appropriation Bill Considered and Passed—Adjournment Until Monday.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, March 19, 1869.

Mr. POMEROY, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported, with amendments, the joint resolutions enabling actual settlers to purchase certain Cherokee and Osage Indian lands, and extending the time to construct the St. Croix and Lake Superior Railroad.

Mr. CASSERLY, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported a bill amendatory of the act to protect the rights of actual settlers on public lands, approved July 27th, 1868. The bill provides that Agricultural College scrip shall be received from actual settlers in payment of pre-emption claims, in the same manner as bounty land warrants, and all locations of such scrip within thirty days after the passage and approval of said act, and otherwise in conformity with law, shall be deemed legal and valid.

Mr. TIPTON introduced a bill to grant lands to aid in the construction of a railroad from Lincoln, Nebraska, to Denver, Colorado. Referred to Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. RAMSEY introduced a bill granting lands to Michigan and Minnesota to aid in the construction of a railroad from Menomee river to St. Paul, and from Green Bay to La Crosse. Referred to Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. BENTON introduced a bill to encourage the building of steamships in the United States, and to provide for the transportation of the United States mail to Europe by such vessels. Referred to Committee on Postoffice and Post Roads.

Mr. DRAKE submitted a substitute for the bill to reorganize the judicial saystem lately reported from that Committee.

The Senate refused to take up the order fixing Friday for the consideration of certain Committee business.

The bill regulating the rights of married women, and relative to divorces in the District of Columbia, passed.

The bill to carry into effect the decrees of the Court, relative to British vessels seized in the rebellion, was taken up.

Mr. STEWART in a speech declared himself opposed to the bill, and opposed to compensating British subjects, under any circumstances, for ships seized by our Government during the late war, until Great Britain should settle our claims against her.

Mr. FESSENDEN was astonished at the avowal from the Senator from Nevada, and thought the policy which that Senator advocated inconsistent with the law of national honor. The pending bill was intended to carry out decrees of our Courts.

Mr. STEWART did not hold himself under any obligation to carry into effect the decrees of any court to pay British claims until our claims against Great Britain should be in a fair way of settlement. The decrees were no doubt legally correct, but were based on legislation long anterior to the war and had reference to the conduct of Great Britain during the war. It would have been perfectly proper during the war for the United States to retaliate on Great Britain by destroying her commerce. It might not have been wise, for it would of course, lead to open war. Even as it was however, there had been war between the countries, but it had all been on one side. The bill went over at the expiration of the morning hour.

The Tenure-of-Office act came up as unfinished business.

Mr. SCOTT resumed his argument to show that the power of removal from office is within the jurisdiction of Congress and may be regulated by legislation. The Republican party was committed to that view of the Tenure-of-Office act by the vote on impeachment, and by its party platform. He hoped, therefore, that the Senate would stand upon principle and refuse to repeal the law; but he would vote for its suspension with proper qualifications and safeguards

Mr. SCHURZ thought that a man might declare himself in favor of repeal or against it, without being open on the one hand to the charge of obsequiousness, or on the other under a charge of discourtesy to the President. Had the question been presented to him simply upon its merits, he might have voted for repeal. He believed the law to be strictly constitutional, but the constitutional view was not always the only one, nor sometimes even the most important view of a question, and in this case there were certain great practical questions to be taken into consideration. One of the greatest problems presented to the statesmen of the day was, how to reform the public service and root out the degrading and disgraceful corruption and inefficiency now existing there. The main source of corruption was to be found in the exercise of the arbitrary power of removal by the Executive, in the system of the appointment of public officers at random from personal or political favoritism, or upon the principle that to the victor belongs the spoils. Whilst that system should be continued, it would be a question whether a law like the Tenure-of-office act would not do more harm by preventing salutary removals by a good President, than it would do good by preventing improper removals by a bad President. When the body politic was swallowing poisons daily, it was well to have at hand, ready to act promptly, a powerful emetic, like the absolute power of removal. Therefore, he might be willing to vote for repeal, if he believed the majority of the Senate was in favor of keeping the law on the statute book in its present form. It seemed, however, to be generally understood that if it was not repealed, it would have to be modified at the next session. For this reason, paradoxical as it might seem, he would now vote against repeal, because he hoped that when the subject should come up again, Congress having already attempted reform in the wrong direction and failed, would go to the root of the evil, and at least attempt a true reform, by establishing a system of examination of appointments for merit and removals for cause, thus giving respectability and permanency to the public service. He did not expect to bring about the millenium by an act of Congress, but he did hope at the next session one step would be taken in the right direction. With this hope he would vote to suspend the law, in order to facilitate the action of President Grant in removing unworthy public officers. He had heard, with regret, rumors that the President felt sensitive on the subject, and would not send any nominations to the Senate until the Tenure-of-Office act should be repealed. These rumors, though doubtless without foundation, had a tendency to make trouble between the Legislative and Executive branches of the Government, and were, therefore, to be deprecated, because although the struggle of Congress with Mr. Johnson had shown that a President, even with the fullest official power and patronage, was in the end powerless against the will of the people and their Representatives, yet it has shown he could imperil, and to some extent neutralize the effect of legislation. He (Mr. Schurz) could not himself believe any of these stories. He was not one of those who availed themselves of every opportunity to fly into a paroxysm of adulation of President Grant, but he had too favorable an opinion of his character and judgment to believe that he would not avail himself with avidity of every aid to what the country expected him to do, whether that aid came in the shape of suspension or repeal of the Tenure-of-Office law.

Mr. SPRAGUE followed with an argument for repeal.

Mr. CORBETT made an argument for repeal.

Mr. BAYARD also spoke in favor of repeal, because he believed it unconstitutional.

At 4:40 the Senate went into executive session and soon after adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. PAINE introduced a resolution to refund $15,000 advance money to Milwaukee for improving its harbor. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. JULIAN introduced a bill that agricultural lands sold for non-payment of taxes in late rebel States, be sold in sub-divisions not exceeding forty acres each, and so much only sold as will discharge the legal obligation. Referred to Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. DOCKERY introduced a bill to refund to distillers of brandy from peaches, apples or grapes the special tax exacted under section fifty-nine, act of July 20th, 1868. Referred to Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. JOHNSON offered a substitute for the Alaska fur protection bill. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. WILSON offered a bill granting land to Minnesota to improve the river at St. Anthony's Falls. Referred to the Public Land Committee.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Indian appropriation bill, Mr. Judd in the Chair.

Mr. DAWES explained the bill, which was simply the House bill of last session, without the Senate amendments.

The whole question of the Indian policy of the Government was opened up by an amendment offered by Mr. WOOD, to add an appropriation to Arickars, Grosventres and Mandans, and the discussion was participated in by Messrs. Wood, Beck, Axtell, Dawes, Lawrence, Maynard, Julian, Benjamin and others.

Mr. WOOD denounced the system of making treaties with Indians as a system of fraud on the Treasury and an injury to the Indians, and declared that appropriations had been made for Indian tribes which had no existence.

Mr. LAWRENCE, a member of the Committee on Appropriations, characterized the whole Indian Bureau as entirely rotten and a den of thieves. The only question for the House was, whether it would root out that den of thieves and save the people from the plunder and robbery that was going on under cover of the treaty making power, or whether it would surrender the legislative power to the treaty making power. He denied that there was any such thing as an Indian treaty. Mere contracts were made, but treaties were conventions between sovereign nations, and it was a farce to apply such a term to tribes of wandering savages.

Mr. JULIAN remarked that General Grant had intimated his intention of placing the Indians under the control of the sect of Quakers, and had told him (Mr. Julian) expressly that he was opposed to every form of taking the lands of the United States and giving them to corporations either through Indian treaties or any other way.

Mr. LAWRENCE—Thank God for General Grant and his policy. Treaties have been put through the Senate when there were not six Senators present. Every man who participated in a fraud of that sort is unfit to occupy a seat in any deliberative body. I wish to God I could reach the Senate, and the ears of every man in the country, until the Senate should be compelled to pay some heed to the voice of the people and have some respect for the interests of the people, instead of squandering their money.

Mr. NEGLEY inquired of the Chair whether it was parliamentary to apply such language to the Senate?

The CHAIRMAN—As the Chair understood it, it was rather broad, and the Chair suggested to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Lawrence) that in referring to a co ordinate branch of the Legislature he should be a little more careful and choice in his language.

Mr. LAWRENCE—Yes; I shall be more careful. I could go a good deal farther than that, and say things a good deal worse, and yet keep within the bounds of truth. (Laughter.)

Mr. DAWES said he would have felt surprised at the remarks of his colleague on the Committee, (Mr. Lawrence,) only for the fact that that gentleman had not found it consistent with his other public duties to attend the meeting of the Committee at which the question had been fully considered. If he had done so, he probably would not have shot off in a new orbit of his own, but would have stood by his associates in their effort to rescue the Treasury. The very foundation stone of this bill was to put a stop to those new treaties and refuse to go farther than fullfilling the stipulation of treaties that have the sanction of all branches of the Government. There was not an item in the bill that came under any of these new treaties which had properly called down the anathemas of his colleague, Mr. Lawrence. If his colleague had known what was in the bill, the House would have been saved his remarks until the amendments of the Senate should come in, when such remarks would be in order. If the House were to resist those amendments at all, it would have to do so by standing by the bill as reported from the Committee on Appropriations. If the members were to depart from it, or undertake either to introduce amendments or to abandon the law of the land, they would be all at sea.

After further discussion, Mr. Wood's amendments were rejected, and the Clerk proceeded with the reading of the bill, which was occasionally interrupted by the offering of amendments, which brought up the same general question for discussion.

At a quarter past four, the Committee rose and reported the bill to the House, and it was passed.

Mr. JUDD, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported a resolution instructing that Committee to inquire into all the circumstances relating to the alleged imprisonment of Bliss and Masterman in Paraguay, and into the conduct of the late American Minister to Paraguay and of the officers commanding the South Atlantic squadron, with power to send for persons and papers, and report at any time.

The SPEAKER presented a communication from the Governor of Massachusetts, with the action of the Massachusetts legislature ratifying the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution.

Adjourned until Monday.

The Insurrection in Cuba.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HAVANA, March 19.—The insurgents have burnt five of the largest plantations in the jurisdiction of Sagua La Chica, one near Cienfuegos and another near Macagua. It is positively asserted that the insurgent Generals are carrying out their declared plan of burning everywhere. A detachment of insurgents had left, all well mounted, to burn plantations in the vicinity of Jabacoca. The planters are terrified. Authentic information from the insurgents admit many plantations have been burned within a week.

Another steamer has arrived from Spain with troops. General Buceta and Escalante were passengers. The troops have gone to Neuvitas.

An engagement took place between the troops and the insurgents yesterday near Alvarez. The insurgents were routed and divided; one force fled towards Macagua and the other towards Jacury Grande.

An engagement has taken place at Guracabulla. The official account reports one hundred and thirty-six insurgents killed, and only one Spanish soldier wounded.

The insurgents are active near Bolondonon. Troops from Matanzas have gone there.

When the battle of Sierra Cubita was fought, Quesada was sick with the small pox, and Ortega commanded.

The insurgents are carrying off the slaves from the plantations and making them soldiers. The number of insurgents in Sagua and Remedios districts is estimated at from seven to nine thousand. The Esquera plantations, near Trinidad, have been burned. The five places burned in the Sagua district produced nine thousand hogsheads of sugar annually.

The insurgents have destroyed the railroad and telegraph between Alvarez and Macagua.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 19, 1869.

The Money market was stringent up to two o'clock and 7 per cent. gold interest freely paid by brokers, but subsequently the demand abated somewhat and loans were made at 7 per cent. currency. The large amonnt of bonds in the hands of foreign bankers which have to be carried, pending the sale of the exchange against them, increases the demand for money and adds to the monetary distress. These bankers, who are generally lenders, are now borrowers. There is no currency coming this way and country bank balances here are very light, and in the event of any extended accommodations being required by country banks to bridge over settling day, Wall street would have to pass through a severe ordeal, though stringency might not be so severe as last March and April. There are no positive indications of a lock-up, but should a resort be had to such a measure it would greatly aggravate matters.

Discounts dull. Sterling exchange market demoralized, and there is great hesitancy pending the action of the Bank of England. The Directors are about raising the rate of interest. The recent large purchases of bonds by foreign bankers have added heavily to the volume of exchange on the market, or to come on the market, and the market is dull and heavy at 8¼@8⅜ for 60 days, and 8⅜@8¾ for sight bills. The market is not in a condition to take all the exchange made by these purchasers of bonds, and the bankers have to a great extent withdrawn from the fleld. Bond bills offered at 7¾@8 without leading to much business, and cable transfers were made at 8¼.

Gold unsettled; opened at 131¼, fell to 130½, advanced to 131¾, and closed at 131. The transactions were heavy, and there has been considerable excitement. Clearances at Gold Exchange Bank, $121,000,000; rates paid for carrying 1½ to 7 per cent., and for borrowing 3 per cent. to flat. These figures indicate a large short interest and are somewhat remarkable in view of stringency in money.

Governments are irregular, unsettled and generally lower, the market closing steady. Coupons of 1881, 116¼@116⅝; do. '62, 119¾@119¾; do. '64, 114¾@115; do. '65, 117¼@117¼; new do., 113½@113¾; do. '67, 113⅜@113⅝; do. '68, 113¼@113⅜; 10-40s, 105¼@105½; Pacific Railroad 6s, 102¾@102½.

State bonds are dull. Missouris, 88¼; old Tennessees, 65½; new Tennessees, 65@65½; North Carolinas, 58@58¼.

The Railway market during the forenoon was strong and active, with principal business in Northwestern, Pittsburgh, Reading and Michigan Southern, Toledo, Pacific Mail and Northwestern improved to 85 for common and 92¼ for preferred. The market continued strong throughout the afternoon, with Northwestern as the feature.

Five-thirty Prices:—Cumberland, 36@39; Wells Express, 30¾@31¼; American, 41@41½; Adams, 58⅝@59; Merchants, 61@61½; United States, 54⅞@55; Quicksilver, 20¼@21; Canton, 59; Pacific Mail, 91⅝@91¾; Western Union Telegraph, 38@38¾; Mariposa, 15¼@15½; do. pref., 34⅝@34¾; New York Central, 159¾@159¾; Erie, 33¼; Hudson, 139@140; Harlem 35@37; Reading, 92¼@92½; Terre Haute, 35@38; Wabash, 66⅞@71¼; St. Paul, 69¼@69⅝; pref., 79¼@79½; Ft. Wayne, 120¼@120¾; Ohio and Mississippi, 32⅜@32⅝; Michigan Central, 117; Michigan Southern, 96¾@96¾; Illinois Central, 138@140; Pittsburgh, 88@88½; Toledo, 106¼@106¾; Rock Island, 128¼@128⅜; Northwestern, 85¼@85½; pref'd., 92½@92⅝; St. Joseph preferred, 114½; C. C & I C. 43; C. C. C. & I., 63; Lake Shore, 106¾.

Mining shares dull: Grass Valley, 70; Eldorado, 41; Smith & Parmelee, 165; Montana, 37.

Copper Stocks at Boston—Copper Falls, 14; Franklin, 19½; Hancock, 5; Minnesota, 2½; Quincy, 29¾.

The receipts at the Sub-Treasury today were $1,740,645; payments, $667,501. Balance, $93,487,629.

BUFFALO, March 19.—Flour quiet; Minnesota bakers $7,25. Wheat inactive; fair white Canada offered at $1,50. Corn quiet; a few car loads of new sold at 80@81c on track. Oats dull; sales of one car load of western at 95c in store. Rye nominal. Barley dull; sales of 1,000 bush Canada at $2,05, bagged; choice held at $2,10 in the elevator. Seeds in fair demand; sales of 5,000 bush clover at about $9, and 400 bags timothy at $3,40@3,50. Pork firmer, at $32 for heavy. Lard and Highwines unchanged.

Sharpsburg.

MESSRS EDITORS: As the winter has been unusually mild, our citizens have improved the time by erecting a number of new buildings. Mr. Jacob Kiel has erected on Main street a fine three story brick building; the lower part is for stores, and the second and third stories are for public halls. The contract for erecting our new Bank Building has been awarded to Esquire Morton, who will commence the work as soon as the weather will permit. The building is to be a fine structure, and will, no doubt, be an ornament to our town. Our rolling and planing mills have been in full blast all winter, affording constant employment to their numerous hands. Our Borough Fathers have made application to the Legislature for authority to levy a tax, to the amount of $15,000 for the purpose of grading and improving our streets. The next application to the Legislature will be, perhaps, for authority to make a Public Park. So Pittsburgh will have to look to her laurels, or else she will fall behind. More anon.

LOVE'S RELIEF.

I believe if I should die,
And you should kiss my eyelids when I lie
Cold, dead, and dumb to all the world contains,
The folded orbs would open at thy breath,
And from its exile in the aisles of death,
Life would come back gladly along my veins.

I believe if I were dead,
And you upon my lifeless heart should tread,
Not knowing what the poor clod chanced to be,
It would find sudden pulse beneath the touch
Of him it ever loved in life so much,
And throb again, warm, tender, true to thee.

I believe, if on my grave,
Hidden in woody depths or by the wave,
Your eyes should drop some warm tears of regret,
From every salty seed of your dear grief
Some fair sweet blossom would leap into leaf,
To prove death could not make my love forget.

I believe if I should fade
Into those mystic realms where light is made,
And you should long once more my face to see,
I would come forth upon the hills of night,
And gather stars like faggots till thy sight,
Led by the beacon blaze, fell full on me!

I believe my faith in thee,
Strong as my life, so nobly placed to be,
It would as soon expect to see the sun
Fall like a dead king from his height sublime,
His glory stricken from the throne of time,
As unworthy the worship thou hast won.

I believe who has not loved
Hath half the treasure of his life unproved;
Like one who with the grape within his grasp
Drops it, with all its crimson juice unpressed,
And all its luscious sweetness unguessed,
Out from his careless and unheeding clasp.

I believe love, pure and true,
Is to the soul a sweet, immortal dew
That gems its petals in its hours of dusk,
The waiting angels see and recognize,
The rich crown jewel, love of paradise,
When life falls from us like a withered husk.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

Agreeable to the call, of ministers and laymen connected with churches adhering to the General Assembly, and with churches of the "Declaration and Testimony Party," a Convention was held at Lexington, Ky., not long since. An "Address" and "Memorial" were adopted, the address to the people of Kentucky, and the memorial to be presented to the General Assembly. The latter document asks: 1. The rescinding of the Pittsburgh order of 1865, inasmuch as occasion for it has passed away. 2. It brings forward the paragraph, Art. IX, Chap. XXI, of the Presbyterian Confession, and "implores the General Assembly to adopt a minute, declaring that if any of the past deliverances of the General Assembly are in conflict or inconsistant with said article of the Confession of Faith, they are disapproved by this Assembly." The organ of the Declaration and Testimony men thinks the Convention conceded too much, and is quite severe on all it did.

The American Churchman, published at Chicago, takes the ground that under no circumstances are the columns of that paper open to discuss any official act of any Bishop in the Church, or any expression of opinion which a Bishop makes, or any advice which he gives. As Bishop, he is utterly above any judgment of their's, or any other man's.

The "Church of the Covenant," (New School Presbyterian,) New York, organized some six years ago, has just been relieved from debt. The total cost of the buildings is about one hundred and sixty thousand dollars. The entire property, however, is valued at two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The New School General Assembly is to meet in this church in May next.

Much enjoyment as well as benefit has resulted from the "praise meetings," held in Dr. Thayer's (Congregational) church at Newport, Rhode Island. These meetings are held on a week day evening and devoted mainly to singing.

The Presbyterian says the Rev. W. Calkins, of the N. S. North Presbyterian church, in Buffalo, recently baptized a young man by immersion, using the baptistry of the Free Will church.

Dr. Morgan Dix, a rector in the Protestant Episcopal Church, has been uttering views in a recent sermon that will grieve many of the communion of that Church, namely, that the last three hundred years are "the real dark ages of the Church, because, forsooth, Martin Luther by prescribing "private judgment of the Bible as a fundamental doctrine of his reformation," laid the foundations of "all the errors and infidel rationalistic doctrines" that are so prevalent at "the present day."

Rev. Otis Gibson, Superintendent of the Chinese Missionary work of the Methodist Episcopal Church on the Pacific coast, has succeeded in a short time in organizing fourteen Sunday Schools for Chinese, in which about four hundred Chinamen are weekly taught our language by Christian men and women.

According to the Friend the Quakers in Pennsylvania are decreasing in numbers. Since 1830 but five new meetings have been established, while thirty-seven have been abandoned.

The Independent announces that a Chicago business firm has undertaken the entire support of a foreign missionary, beginning with the present year.

The Methodists of Boston have bought he Bromfield House estate, for the publishing office of Zion's Herald, and the bookstore, and to furnish suitable accommodations for general meetings of the denomination. The estate is very central, located on Bromfield street, midway between Tremont and Washington streets.

The Christian Advocate, of New York, referring to the paragraph going the round of the newspaper press, that the Unitarians claim to have received during the last year more accessions to the ranks of their ministry from the Methodist clergy, than from all their theological schools together, says, it is possible that some Methodist minister has turned Unitarian during the past year, but the record of it has not reached that office.

The Washington city correspondent of the Presbyterian referring to Bishop Simpson's sermon in the Metropolitan church, on the day of its dedication, writes, Bishop Simpson is to American Methodism what General Grant was to the army—a great organizer—one wise in discovering character and choosing subordinate leaders for every kind of work, and possessing a personal magnetism, that is irresistible upon those over whom he chooses to exert it. He thinks the great impetus to this branch of the Church is due as much to the blessing of God conferred upon them in the gift of this man as to any other one cause.

The gifted Rev. Franklin Moore, D.D., formerly of this city, and brother-in-law of Judge Agnew, of the Supreme Court, has lost his voice, and is spending a month or two in Florida for his heatth.

The closing exercises of the Allegheny Theological (U. P.) Seminary will commence Monday, April 6th, and close Wednesday evening. The usual examition of the students will take place, and special sermons will be delivered by visiting ministers. The Commencement exercises proper will be held Wednesday night in the Fourth church, Allegheny City, when addreeses will be delivered, closing with the presentation of Bibles to the graduating class by the senior Professor, Dr. Pressly.

Recent rules have been promulgated by the proper ecclesiastical authority of the Catholic church, for the guidance of its communicants, namely: First, no Catholic who has a husband or wife alive can be married again unless by application directly to his bishop. Previous to this, priests had the power. Second, a Catholic who has been married outside the Church can be absolved from such violation of its rules only upon application to the bishop, and by public avowal of repentance.

The Cumberland Presbyterian in discussing the question "how to prevent candidates for the ministry from marrying before their course of preparation is completed?" argues "who that has thus married in the midst of his preparation, has arisen to eminence as a minister."

A WAR has broken out between the Ritualists and anti-Rtualists in the Illinois diocese. Bishop Whitehouse heads the forces of the former. A paper has been signed by a large number of clergymen and laymen, in which they enter their solemn protest against all teachings, innovations, machinations and devices that are employed for unprotestantizing this Protestant Episcopal Church, corrupting her doctrine, debasing her worship, and overturning her long established rights and usages. The teachings calling forth this censure are pointed out in the official expressions of the Bishop and his school. The signers of this paper propose to hold a general meeting in June next, in Chicago, "of the Evangelical clergy and laity of our church who sympathize with the spirit and object of this protest, for the purpose of discussing topics connected with it, and transacting such other business as, under the circumstances, may then be deemed expedient."

THREE days before the inauguration Mr. A. T. Stewart went to Washington. Prior to his arrival most sumptuous apartments were prepared for him at the Ebbitt House. Parlors reaching the width of the house were refurnished; carpets of a new pattern were sent on from Mr. Stewart's store, and put down; choice lace curtains depended from the windows; new furniture adorned the rooms; flowers covered the mantles, stood in magnificent bouquets on the tables, and hung in rustic baskets from the ceiling. A private entrance to the street, in charge of liveried servants, was secure at all times from unwarranted intrusion; a carriage stood at the door, with liveried driver andfootman, ready to convey the occupant of those rooms whereever and whenever he desired to go. It was in these apartments that Mr. Stewart in expectancy received, accepted, and finally declined the office of Secretary of the Treasury.

PETROLEUM.—The Canadian newspapers are complaining that no method has yet been discovered whereby Canadian petroleum can be refined so as to equal that of Pennsylvania for illuminating purposes. The Canadian petroleum emits a disagreeable odor, and injures the tea, sugar, and other goods, near which it may be stored. The duty of fifteen per cent. imposed upon Pennsylvania petroleum prevents consumption by the Canadians, and a demand has been extensively made for the repeal of this heavy tax upon an article which is essential to the comfort of every family. In New Brunswick the coal oil works have been closed, and the bad smelling petroleum from the Province of Ontario is the only substitute. Hence the newspapers insist that a more effective plan for refining the oil should be attempted, or that the duty of fifteen per cent. upon the foreign article should immediately be removed.

THE Boston Transcript says that the citizens of Montreal are apprehensive of immense damage when the snow melts and the river breaks up. The city authorities as well as the citizens are using all precautionary measures. The drains have been placed under close inspection, snow is being shoveled from the roofs of houses, and all the available teams are employed in carting the snow from the streets. It is also feared that through all the region between St. Johns and Montreal the destruction will be incalculable, and that a freshet will occur in the Richelieu and St. Johns rivers flooding the entire level country and making it an inland sea. The inhabitants are in daily and almost hourly dread. Communication by rail is a thing not thought of, and it will be some time before freight trains will resume their regular trips.

BY direction of the Secretary of the Navy the sea service of officers hereafter will be for a period of three years, counting from the day they receive their order until they are detached on the return of their vessel to the United States. Officers who have been three years at sea will, on their return, be allowed three years at a shore station; and to make it fair for all, officers will have to take their turns at the different stations. Those officers now on the Mediterranean station will not be ordered there again until they have performed duty on the coast of Brazil, China, Pacific and Home Squadrons, which will be the tour of duty.

THE MAD DOG.

Sir Thomas Fowell Buxton was well known in the early part of the present century as one of the most earnest assistants of William Wilberforce in freeing England from the crimes inseparable from slave-holding. It is not, however, of his public career, nor of his deep piety, that we are about to speak, but of one incident in his life, which shows how a really religious and intrepid man will face a sudden and frightful peril for the sake of others. The event took place in the summer of 1816, when he was thirty years old, a capital sportsman and a man of remarkable personal strength and great height (six feet four). He was not as yet a baronet, and was at the time living at Hamstead, and daily riding into Spitalfields to attend to the affairs of a brewery in which he was a partner. During a visit that his wife and children were making at a distance, he had been staying with his brother-in-law, Mr. Hoare, not far from his home. When his servant brought his horse to him there, it was with the intelligence that his dog, Prince, was in a strange state, had killed the cat, almost killed another dog, and had tried to bite some of the servants. Mr. Buxton desired that the creature should be tied up and taken care of, and then rode off to his business in town; but as he returned he saw Prince, evidently mad, covered with mud, running furiously and biting at everything.

Mr. Buxton tried to ride him down or drive him into some outhouse, but in vain; and he bit at least a dozen dogs, two boys and a man, springing at a boy and seizing him by the breast, but this time his master was near enough to knock him down with his whip. He then changed his course, setting off for London, and Mr. Buxton rode by his side, waiting for some opportunity of stopping him, and constantly calling to him; but the poor animal was past attending to the well known voice, whether coaxing or scolding. He was getting near more closely inhabited places, and considering the fearful damage he might effect, Mr. Buxton thought "if ever there was an occasion that justified a risk of life, this was it," and determined to catch him himself. Prince ran to a garden door, and Mr. Buxton, leaping from his horse, grasped him by the neck. His stauggles were so desperate that it seemed at first almost impossible even for so powerful a man, to hold him (he was evidently a large dog;) but lifting him up from the ground, he was more easily managed, and Mr. Buxton contrived to ring the bell; but for a long time no one came to his help, and being afraid lest the foam which was pouring from the poor beast's jaws might get into some scratch on his fingers and be as dangerous as an actual bite, he with great difficulty held Prince with one hand while he worked the other into the glove in his pocket, then changed hands, and thus put on the other glove. At last the gardener opened the door, and asked what he wanted. "I've brought you a mad dog," was the answer; and desiring him to get a strong chain. Mr. Buxton walked into the yard crrrying Prince by the neck. He was determined not to kill the dog at once, thinking that if it should prove not to be a case of hydrophobia, it would be a great relief to the persons who had been bitten, and this could only be determined by letting the disease take its course. The gardener was in great terror, but had sense enough to obey directions, and was able to secure the collar round the dog's neck and fasten the other end of the chain to a tree. Mr. Buxton then walked to the utmost bound of the chain and with all his force, "which," he says, "was nearly exhausted by the dog's frantic struggles," threw the creature as far away from him as he could, and sprang back in time to avoid poor Prince's desperate bound after him, which was followed by "the most fearful yell he ever heard."

All day the unhappy creature, in the misery of that horrible disease to which our faithful companions are sometimes subject, rushed round and round the tree, champing the foam that gushed from his jaws, and when food was thrown to him, snatched at it with fury. but could not eat it. The next day, Mr. Buxton thought the chain in danger of giving way, so renewing his act of bravery, he obtained a stronger chain and a pitchfork. Between the prongs of this he contrived to get the dog's body, without piercing it, and thus held him pinned down to the ground, while fastening a much larger chain round his neck. On the pitchfork being removed, the dog sprang up and dashed after his master with such violence that the old chain snapped in two. However, the frenzy soon spent his strength, and he died only forty-eight hours after the first symptoms of madness had appeared. All the dogs and cats he had bitten were killed by Mr. Buxton himself, knowing that for such a painful business it was wiser to trust to no one's resolution but his own. The man and boys had the bitten parts cut out and the wounds burnt, and it was hoped that the horrid consequences might be averted from them. He himself expressed great thankfulness both for his own escape and his children's absence from home, and thus wrote to his wife a day or two after: "What a terrible business it was. You must not scold me for the risk I ran. What I did, I did from a conviction that it was my duty, and I never can think that an ever-cautious care of self in circumstances where your risk may preserve others, is so great a virtue as you seem to think it. I do believe if I had shrunk from the danger, and others had suffered in consequence, I should have felt more pain than I should have done had I received a bite."

A FROG has been captured in Maury county, Tenn., which weighs ninety-three pounds. In a sitting posture its height was exactly three feet four inches. Its eyes were two and one-half inches in diameter. The color of the breast or belly was a dark yellow, while its back was perfectly green and apparently mossy. Around its neck are two distinct red and one dark stripe. From the centre of the head, or rather commencing from the top centre of the nose, there are apparently a thousand small light stripes springing out from a common centre like rays of light. Its feet are of large proportions, and are perfectly black.

A REMARKABLE medical discovery has recently been made in the treatment of deafness by Prof. Scott, of the New York Medical University, by which the most apparently hopeless cases are radically cured. The method consists in introducing atomized oxide of phenyl directly into the cavity of the tympanum. No unpleasant sensations are produced, and a feeling of clearness seems to follow the application. Cases are daily treated successfully at the University.

RIVER NEWS.

A steady rain set in yesterday afternoon and the indications last evening were that it would continue for some time. Mercury at four o'clock P. M., 35. River falling, with six feet six inches in channel, by Monongahela marks.

The Messenger will positively take her departure for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi to-day, at noon.

The Lorena, from St. Louis, is the only transient arrival we have to report. The Mollie Ebert, from the same point, was due last night.

The Fayette, for Parkersburg, and Kenton, for Portsmouth, also departed.

The Silver Lake departed for Missouri River with a good trip and engagements below, including fifty tuns at Portsmouth.

The Armeina, which left here for St. Louis on Thursday evening, run aground at "Merriman" and stuck there nearly all night. She left here drawing six and a half feet.

The Glendale, Capt. Hare, is announced for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi forthwith. She is, in all respects, one of the best boats in the trade.

The Grey Eagle, Capt. C. L. Brennan, is the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, leaving at noon.

The Glasgow, Capt. Andy Robinson, Jr., is filling up steadily for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi, and will be the first boat out.

The "Collossal," Capt. Cox's new moantain boat, will commence business next week.

—The Allegheny Belle, with a tow of iron ore, passed Louisville on Wednesday, enroute for Pittsburgh.

—The Maggie Hays and Sallie, passed Evansville on Wednesday, and the Emma No. 3, was advertised to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Thursday.

—The tow boat Horner, in aseending the Kentucky chute on Wednesday with a barge of railroad iron, grounded but was pulled safely by the tow boat Falls Pilot.

—The St. Louis Times, several days ago, said: Dick Harmon, of Nashville, a river engineer, was forced by the uncle of Miss Virginia E. Davis to marry her on Sunday, under threat of taking his life. Jutsice Andre performed the ceremony.

—The large wharfboat of Fowler, Lee & Co., at Faducah, came very near being destroyed by fire on Thursday night about twelve o'clock. It took fire from the stovepipe that ran through the roof of the boat. The steamer Anna was lying alongside of the wharf at the time, and with her nigger engine put out the fire before it did much damage.

—On Tuesday, in the case of N. J. Bigley vs. the towboat Neville, which has for some time been before the United States Court at Louisville, the plaintiff got judgment in the sum of $9,515. The suit was brought for damages for breach of contract in failing to deliver coal at Memphis, and for sinking barges laden with coal.

—A Cincinnati paper says: The owners of the Madison packet West Wind propose to form a joint stock company, with a capital stock of $14,000, in shares of $1,000. They will dispose of eight shares to parties living along the trade, and retain the remainder. They design making the West Wind a fixture in the trade. Captain Jas. Troy, late in command of the Lady Grace, in the same trade, takes charge of the Wind, Captain John Noss retiring.

—The Louisville Courier says: A short time ago we made allusion to a singular superstition which prevails among steamboatmen, or at least a portion of them, viz: That when an accident befalls a steamer, two more of a like nature, making the fatal number three, are sure to follow, and cited the sinking of three boats on the falls, and the destruction by fire of the Mittie Stephens and the partial burning of the Glendale. The burning of the Ruth has filled the mystic complement of the fire fiend. Since the above mentioned paragraph was penned three steamers, the Peoria City, Agnes and Cuba have sunk within a few days of each other. Is there anything in the superstition? It would seem so.

—Advices in regard to the destruction of the Ruth say the fire started among the hay in the hold. The engineer made the discovery, spoke to the pilot through the speaking-trumpet, and the latter rounded the boat on the Mississippi shore, and run her into a clump of willows, where she was forced to the bank, and made fast by a chain. The passengers, two hundred in number, among them sixty ladies, got ashore without accident. Nearly all the baggage was lost, including $10,000 worth of jewelry. The Ruth had 1500 tuns of freight, including 200 head of horses and mules, all of which were lost. After burning about three-quarters of an hour, destroying the upper works, the officers succeeded in scutling the hull. The steamers Calumet and Plain City took the Ruth's passengers to Vicksburg.

UNUSUALLY flattering figures are promised for the Treasury exhibit, at the close of the present month.

IT IS settled that Hon. JOHN B. ALLISON, of this State, is to be Registrar of the Treasury. This will gratify every good Republican in Western Pennsylvania.

THE Erie-Stickney-Railway bill has passed the Ohio Legislature, a Senator averring that the "passes" in members' pockets done the business, and that it has cost the FISK concern less than $50,000 to buy the Ohio Senate.

HON. JOHN SCOTT, Senator from Pennsylvania, made his first speech yesterday in the Senate on the Tenure-of-office act. He declared in favor of a suspension of the act, with proper qualifications and safeguards, but opposed its repeal.

WE HAVE so often expressed approval of the suggestion, that a large share of our Indian business should be committed to the supervision of Friends, that we need only note the fact, now announced, that such is to be the policy of the Administration.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HOAR is said to have advised the President that an Executive pardon cannot be revoked after it reaches the hands of the Marshal or other officer, and that persons named in such pardons may claim their release upon a writ of habeas corpus.

THE most serious embarrassment to the oil producing business in Venango and elsewhere has been the destruction of petroleum yielding wells by the water from non-producing holes. An act looking to the abatement of this inconvenience has been passed in the House at Harrisburg and will in all probability become a law. The bill enjoins and interferes with no one's interests, but protects operators of good wells from great losses and business disappointments.

THE APPOINTMENTS for the XXIId district have been very nearly determined upon at Washington. While of course there are personal disappointments, the individuals selected are capable and honest men. vigilant and active Republicans, and will give abundant satisfaction to the masses of the party here. General NEGLEY has, on the whole, exercised a wise discrimination, and exerted a powerful influence in controlling the course of affairs, which argues well for the success of his Congressional career.

THE NEW "Bounty Law" of March 3d gives the bounty of the full term to soldiers who were discharged by reason of "expiration of term of service." It also gives the additional bounty provided for in the Act of July 28th, '66, "to the widows, minor children or parents, in the order named, of any soldier who shall have died after being honorably discharged," and who, if living, would have been entitled under that act. But these and all other claims under the act of July 28th, '66, must be presented before the 1st of December, 1869.

THE recent order for the consolidation of the army will disengage some seven hundred supernumerary officers, for at least five hundred of whom there will be no duty whatever until vacancies shall occur. The rank and file at present will no more than fill up the retained regiments. The interests of economy are to be still further promoted by keeping the expenses, in all branches of the military service, closely within the appropriations; to this end General SHERMAN puts himself on record against any more deficiency bills, and announces that the blue coats, of every grade, must be cut according to the Congressional cloth.

THE FRIENDS of Gen. GEO. H. THOMAS are to be found everywhere. But not all of them were wise enough to perceive, the other day, that the General Order assigning the five Major Generals to duty, so far from being in any sense a slight upon that meritorious officer, was really of a gratifying and honorable character for him. It promoted no one over his head, except according to the fixed rules of the service, and it did promote him from the command of a department to that of a military division. Where there were but two divisions before, a third is now created, of which he may take charge when it suits his convenience. If that was a "slight," his friends think that he can stand it.

THE rumor from Harrisburg, that Ex-Governor CURTIN has accepted the Russian mission, comes to us in advance of any definite intelligence of either his nomination by the President, or confirmation by the Senate. But we have no doubt of the fact that the mission has been tendered to him, and that he will be in due time nominated and confirmed. We scarcely need add that we share in the general feeling of satisfaction, that the character, capacity and distinguished public services of our "War-Governor" are thus recognized by the Federal Administration.

It is also understood that our accomplished friend, Colonel A. K. MCCLURE, of Franklin, goes with the new Minister to St. Petersburg.

THE proposition to annex Cuba and San Domingo has an influential friend in General BANKS, Chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. We have observed a feeble effort in some quarters, to claim the President as cordially supporting this movement, and ready to act as soon as he shall have the Congressional sanction. But other rumors intimate that Secretary FISH of the State Department, does not accept that branch of his predecessor's foreign policy, and will cordially take no steps which legislation may not require. Since there is no present likelihood that Congress will recognize the belligerent rights of the Cuba insurgents, much less their independence, the attention of the Administration has been called to the fact that, at various ports on our coast, from New York to the Florida Keys, there are constant shipments of warlike material, with the frequent embarkation of sympathizing recruits for the rebel cause. Secretary FISH cannot but be aware that such flagrant violations of our laws and of international comity can and should be immediately checked. Clearly, a majority of our people will welcome the entire West Indian Archipelago under the American flag, but not through the violation of our own laws, or of our treaty engagements, or until their populations shall be free to dispose of themselves.

THE FEDERAL OBLIGATIONS OF STATE LEGISLATURES.

The constitutional power of Congress, to submit amendatory articles for ratification by the States, is to be conceded, of course. Its power, "to make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution" all its other constitutional powers, is equally undeniable. Such legislation as may be found "necessary and proper," to ensure the action of the States upon the propositions for amendment from time to time submitted, is clearly warranted by the Constitution itself. Its necessity is patent in the fact that, without Federal legislation to meet the case, a State Legislature might altogether ignore a proposition when thus submitted, indefinitely postponing its consideration—and thus, by indirection, nullifying a plain constitutional provision.

It is held, and we think justly, that, in whatever relates to a Federal duty, or may be properly an incident of the right of Congress or of the obligations of the State under the Constitution, the Congressional control over the question is complete, covering all the ground and leaving to the States absolutely no latitude whatever, except as the Constitution may itself specify, or, as in the case of a submitted amendment, the naked discretion of ratifying or rejecting it.

No duty enjoined, no obligation imposed, no execution provided for in the fundamental instrument is to be lawfully evaded or disowned by any indirect means. Especially would this hold good of amendatory propositions. The discretion of each State to accept or reject these is expressly guaranteed. But in these two directions—of acceptance or rejection—and in these two only, lies the course of so much sovereign power as remains to the individual States. They must choose one of these—and without needless or unreasonable delay.

It would be mischievously absurd to claim the right of the States to defeat the exercise of a power heretofore expressly delegated to the Union, with the other incidental prerogatives necessary for that exercise, by any "extra constitutional" means whatever. For, such means, however pacific they may appear, are as essentially revolutionary in spirit as an armed attempt at secession itself. One, like the other, is a substantial denial of the Federal authority, with an unwarrantable assumption of sovereign privileges which the States, having once conceded, can never rightfully reclaim.

Whatever duties are enjoined by the Constitution upon either the State or Federal authorities, are equally obligatory upon both. As well may one party disregard them, as the other. It would be quite as justifiable for Congress or the Executive to withhold, or indefinitely postpone, the implied Constitutional duty of acting promptly upon the application of the endangered authorities of an insurrectionary State for the Federal aid to suppress a revolt, as for any State to evade a duty equally imposed upon it in turn by the same mutual compact. Suppose a formidable revolt, growing out of partizan antipathies, were to break out, not in a small State like Rhode Island, but in Ohio, New York or Kentucky, against the legally constituted State Government, and that it could not be suppressed without the Federal interposition. What would be thought of a Congressional majority or of an Executive, which, in political sympathy with the insurgents, but not daring to take the responsibility of a square refusal to grant the military aid asked for by the imperilled State government, should seek to evade it, and indirectly to promote the rebellion, by resigning and abandoning their official trusts? Yet that case would be precisely a parallel to that of State legislators who, sworn first of all to uphold the Federal Constitution, are guilty of an unreasonable delay, or of an attempted evasion, in any indirect mode whatsoever, of a clearly constitutional duty.

It is not enough to say that such an evasion, in the case of an amendment submitted to a Legislature, practically works no bad results, since such amendment must have a certain affirmative vote, and that the silence of the minority would count negatively in any event. That does not meet the case. An amendment once submitted ought to be disposed of without unreasonable delay. If one State may choose to give no expression upon it, others may do the same, and, less than three-fourths voting at all, the question might remain open year after year and until, perhaps, an emergency of danger had ripened into a fatal disaster to the fabric of the Union.

The joint resolution offered in the Senate by Gov. MORTON on Wednesday, prescribing the manner of proceeding by State Legislatures upon amendments to the Constitution submitted to them for ratification, intends and distinctly provides for the early compliance of the States with this duty of affirmation or rejection. The resolution specifies the precise period of the session at which any amendment so submitted shall be taken into consideration, directs that it shall be continuously discussed until brought to a vote, and provides that no resignation or withdrawal of a minority of members shall obstruct a final decision by the majority of the same body. This measure is doubtless suggested by the recent "extra-constitutional" course of a partizan minority in the Indiana Legislature, who have, by a concerted resignation, succeeded in breaking the three-fifths quorum required by the local constitution, and so delaying the decision of Indiana upon the XVth Amendment. The resolution is ample to meet all such contingencies hereafter. It takes, as by clear constitutional right, the entire control over the details of State action upon a Federal question, and makes the "necessary and proper" provision against an indirect repudiation of the just obligations of the States to the whole Union. That control must be somewhere—and where would it be, if not in Congress?

It is needless to add that we heartily concur in the sound policy and constitutional validity of the Senator's proposition. We have not always been able to agree with him, upon questions of leading public concern, but, in this case as in most others, we have to thank him for the uncompromising logic and clear statesmanship which lead him to propose this long-needed measure. Its novelty is the sole argument against it; the more it is considered, the clearer its merit is established.

And we have to thank, too, the Indiana Democracy for the opportunity which they have thus furnished for the better and more exact definition of both State and Federal obligations. They may thank themselves for having repeated once too often that favorite blunder of the opposition, a Legislative "bolt." The time has come at last when no partizan dodge of that sort, in a State Legislature, can be suffered to obstruct the legal and orderly fulfillment of any just Federal requirement. The Constitution can and will vindicate and protect itself, and secure its own due observance by either States or individuals. It will equally protect the discretion of the States, in accepting or rejecting amendatory propositions, and the clear Federal title to a decision, one way or the other, without needless delay, or obstacles factiously interposed, and even in spite of the trammels of any authority which States may improperly claim or attempt to exercise over a purely Federal question.

Washington Items.

It is not certain that Motley will be Minister to England. Some days ago it was decided that he should have that place, but since then circumstances have arisen which may necessitate a change.

Hon John Allison, of Pennsylvania, was to day appointed Register of the Treasury, Mr. Halsey, of New Jersey, having declined it, and Hon. R. W. Clark was appointed Third Auditor. Both are highly indorsed by the members of Congress, and will be confirmed to fill vacancies.

The President stated to Senator Cameron, last night, that Mr. Murdock would certainly be appointed Marshal of the Western District of Pennsylvania.

It is understood that quite a number of nominations for foreign missions made out a few days ago have been entirely changed. This is the result of an interview of the President with the new Secretary of State, and with Senators, who suggested to the President that the names were not satisfactory.

Secretary Boutwell to-day nominated the Hon. Henry D. Moore, formerly State Treasurer of Pennsylvania, to be Collector of the Port of Philadelphia. The news fell like a thunderbolt among the Philadelphia politicians here, and they hardly know yet whether they are dead or alive.

M. E. ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

The "Singing Pilgrim"—The Temperance Sermon—The Prayer Meeting—Representation of Districts—Rev. J. H. Vincent—Bishop Ames's Address—Chaplain McCabe's Singing, &c.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW PHILADELPHIA, OHIO, March 18, 1869.

I omitted yesterday to say that on the evening before Philip Phillips, the "Singing Pilgrim," was here, and gave a concert of sacred song. He was assisted by a Mr. Davis, a remarkably fine bass singer. The music rendered by these two gentlemen was excellent. The church was crowded, and the proceeds of the concert must have amounted to a handsome little sum.

The sermon of last night by Rev. Smith was preached to a large audience. The speaker was not well, and consequently did not discuss his theme with his usual ability. He dealt largely in hard words and rough phrases. He is evidently a radical temperance man. He denounced intemperance, and all its aiders and abettors, in the strongest terms, and argued in favor of prohibition.

Nine O'clock A. M.—An hour has been spent in religious devotions. It has been a delightful one. The songs and the prayers have been from earnest and fervent hearts. Bishop Ames is in the church and Dr. Pershing is reading the minutes of yesterday's proceedings. By the way the Doctor is a model Secretary—quick and accurate.

Dr. Williams, Presiding Elder of the Allegheny district, says his work is in a healthy and prosperous condition. Nearly one thousand have been received into the church. The financial reports will be encouraging.

Dr. Cox, Presiding Elder of the Canton district, remarks: We have had a year of tolerable success—some good revivals—an extensive one at Massillon. Collections will be an increase on last year. We have all striven to do our duty.

Rev. W. B. Watkins, Elder of Steubenville District, says that there was at the beginning of the year some dissatisfaction as to the form of the district, but all are satisfied now, and the work is in a prosperous and hopeful condition.

Rev. S. F. Minor says that the district he represents—the Cambridge—is improving—not less than twelve hundred have been added to the Church. The salaries of preachers are larger than heretofore; the collections in advance of last year. We have reason to be thankful and take courage.

Rev. J. S. Bracken, of the Barnesville District, thinks his work is improving. A number of good revivals have taken place, resulting in an addition of some six hundred to the Church.

Rev. L. McGuire, the presiding elder, says the McConnellsville district has prospered spiritually, but that financially it is not as encouraging as he could wish.

Dr. Dempsey reports the North Pittsburgh districts as quite prosperous. All the preachers have worked hard and have had success. Nearly one thoussnd have been added to the church. Money raised for benevolent objects will compare favorably with last year.

The Conference orders a committee on the time of holding the session of the Conference. Many seem anxious to have the time changed to a later period in the year.

Rev. J. H. Vincent, one of the Secretaries of the Sunday School Union, is now representing to the Conference his course. He urges collections for the Union to be taken in all our churches. Many do not take this collection. He has maps of Sacred History for Sunday Schools; also, cards very nicely prepared.

E. B. Webster, J. F. Core, H. Pershing, D. S. Momyer, J. F. Riley, L. B. King, B. E. Edgell, T. Finley, J. Winters, J. F. Huddleson, J. M. Swan, J. B. Wallace, S. W. Horner, S. H. Cravens, W. B. Grace were continued on trial in the Conference.

J. M. Pershing, J. Mechem, G. Orbin, T. Patterson, W. F. Smith, J. E. Starkey, C. W. Smith remain deacons in the church.

H. C. Beacom, C. McCaslin, D. H. Pierce, J. H. Conkle, W. H. McBride, J. C. Castle, F. I. Swaney, D. C. Knowls were elected to Elders' orders.

Bishop Ames is addressing the Conference on the importance of Church Extension. He speaks wisely and eloquently.

Prof. McCabe is singing "A Thousand Years to Come;" now he is thrilling the whole audience with the "Battle Cry of the Republic," a song he sung in Libby Prison when the news of victory from Gettysburg was received. The whole congregation joins in the chorus, and the singing is as the voice of many waters. One good brother shouts out, "glory to God." We are having a good time.

THE COURTS

District Court.—Judges Hampton.

FRIDAY, March 9.—In the case of Hoeveler vs. Schappe & Kaufman, rule to show case why judgment as to Kaufman should not be opened and defendant let into defence, proceedings stayed.

The case of Logan vs. Allegheny City, previously reported, is still on trial.

FRIDAY, March 19.—In the case of the Commonwealth vs. William Rorick, convicted of larceny, motion for a new trial.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. F. A. M. Kreps and J. W. Caldwell, indicted for forcible detainer, was concluded. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and directed that the defendants pay the costs.

The next case taken up was the Commonwealth vs. E. Blasdell, indicted for larceny, Jacob F. Smith prosecutor. The defendant had been a driver on the Oakland Passenger Railway, on the car on which the prosecutor was conductor. On or about the 19th of February, Blasdell having been discharged from the service of the Company, went with the conductor to the office of the Company to receive his pay. The money (four dollars) was handed to Smith, who alleges that the defendant snatched it from his hand. It appears that the conductors drew the money and paid the drivers, and it is stated by Smith that there was only two dollars and fifty cents coming to Blasdell, and that after taking the four dollars referred to, give back the change. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Henry Goldstein, indicted for larceny by bailee, Annie Robinson prosecutrix, was next placed on trial. It appears that the defendant sold to the prosecutrix, Annie Robinson, and Miss Nettie Bishop, a quantity of furniture, valued at $400, which they were to pay for in installments of $18 per week. About one month after the furniture had been delivered, a circumstance occurred which rendered it necessary for the parties who had purchased the furniture, and who were at that time occupying a house at 61 Logan street, to quit the premises, and Goldstein, it appears, got possession of their goods for the purpose, as alleged, to keep them until such time as they should procure another house. On the other hand, a bill of sale was produced, made by the girls to the defendant, which it was contended by the defense was given in security for the payment of sundry bills due him.

Pittsburgh Sanitary Soldiers' Home.

We have received from the Managers of the above patriotic and charitable institution a report of the present condition, together with a concise history of its organization and progress. Our readers are familiar with the circumstances attending the early history of the Home, what led to its foundation, and from whence the necessary funds for its maintenance came, and hence we pass over that portion of the report. We learn that since the opening of the Home until the 1st of January, 1869, ten thousand and twelve men have been admitted, eight hundred and ninety discharged and forty-five have died. Five hundred and seventy-three were under medical treatment while inmates.

Of the deaths, twenty-two occurred from consumption. The disease and death in four of these cases originated from exposure while in Andersonville prison. Of 581 persons admitted during the years 1867 and 1868 there were 275 natives of the United States and 301 foreigners.

For subsistence, expense, fuel, medicine, clothing, salaries and garden, $74,799.35 were expended during the four years of organization. This amount includes cost of Government buildings purchased, furniture, improvements and repairs.

The annual income of the Home from the endowment fund, $175,000 in 5-20 bonds, is $10,500 in gold. The report says that it has been a subject of much regret to the officers and managers that any soldier should prefer to lead the disgraceful and precarious life of a beggar to accepting the comforts of a home so freely offered. There are such persons, but many of them who are found begging in our city streets are impostors. A worn suit of blue is easily procured, and in some cases discharge papers, which have been borrowed or stolen render detection difficult.

At the close of the rebellion, Soldiers' Homes were established in many parts of the country. The necessity for them was absolute, and the duty of maintaining them was cheerfully recognized. The necessity has gradually become less pressing, and the munificent provision made by the Government Homes has led to the abandonment of one after another of the private Homes until this one only remains.

The following are the officers of the Home for the ensuing year:

President—Robert C. Loomis.
Secretary—Ormsby Phillips.
Treasurer—James H. Wright.
Directors—Felix R. Brunot, G. L. B. Fetterman, John W. Chalfant, Wm. McCreary, W. P. Weyman, Thos. H. Lane, C. W. Batchelor, Jos. S. Morrison, W. S. Haven, W. P. Miller, Joseph Albree, General J. B. Sweitzer.

BE CAREFUL.

At no season of the year is the above injunction of more weight than now. The changes of temperature have been so sudden from warm to excessive cold, that the human constitution, like everything else in Nature, feels the shock, and gives way to its impressions. Thousands of people who lie down at night, unconscious as it were, of injury to the constitution, wake up with hoarseness and coughs, which, unless the first symptoms are heeded, are apt to involve the lungs or some other of the vital organs in deep seated and incurable disease. If the fact were as well known to all our readers as to ourselves, that an infallible cure for most of these incipient ailments may be procured in DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE, the Doctor's new store would soon be too small to meet the exigencies required of it in the manufacture of this valuable medicine. Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure is without doubt a valuable desideratum in the cure of disease, a fact well known to thousands of people who have been relieved by its health-giving power. If the proper estimate were placed on human life and health, those who neglect coughs and colds would be fewer in number. Dr. Keyser would in no case, of a serious character, advise the dispensing with a doctor, but how many hundreds are there who, in the beginning of a disease, could be cured before a doctor could be reached. It is in these cases, as well as others of a more serious nature, that the lung cure comes to our aid and dispenses health and comfort, which otherwise would never be obtained. It is thus a handful of roots and herbs are made into a healing syrup, which is often the precursor of health and usefulness. The suffering invalid would often apply for relief if he knew where to promptly obtain it; and that it can be promptly obtained in Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure is no longer a doubtful problem. Let not the March winds make dangerous inroads upon your health, when, with a few doses of this Syrup, you can fortify your system as well as drive out of it those noxious miasms which undermine its strongholds and render its exertions nugatory.

WITHOUT A GOOD DIGESTION

All other temporal blessings are comparatively worthless. The dyspeptic millionaire who has tried all the potions of the medical profession in vain, and believes his complaint to be incurable, would give half his fortune to be freed from the horrors of indigestion, and thus enabled to enjoy the other half. Of course he would.

Perhaps HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS has been recommended to such a sufferer. Possibly he has turned from the friend who made the suggestion with a sneer, intimating that he has no faith in any "patent medicine." If this has been the case, so much the worse for him. His incredulity dooms him to a life of misery. All the luxuries which wealth can purchase are at his command. Not one of them can give him pleasure. His own irrational obstinacy is his bane.

The masses, happily for themselves, are less skeptical. There is such a thing as bigoted unbelief, as well as bigoted credulity, and a golden mean between the two, which men and women who are gifted with common sense adopt and profit by. These are the class that patronize and recommend HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. Why do they approve this famous anti-dyspeptic and anti-bilious preparation? Simply because they have not been too much the slaves of senseless prejudice to give it a fair trial, and have found that when all other tonics, stimulants and stomachics failed, it produced the desired effect.

"Strike, but hear," said the Roman sage, when his ignorant enemies were assailing him. "Doubt, but try," says the man who has been cured of indigestion or biliousness, or intermittent fever, by the Bitters, as he relates his experience of the medicine to his invalid friends. Whoever is so wedded to his foregone theoretical conclusions, as to decline to test the properties of a medicine endorsed by the testimony of intelligent men in every walk of life, and approved by the people at large, deserves to suffer

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

IN DESCRIBING A

RECEPTION

AT THE WHITE HOUSE,

The Washington Star Says:

"A peculiar style of wearing the hair, last evening, among the ladies, was a subject of much comment, and the remarks were, for the most part, altogether in its favor, as a becoming substitute for the waterfall."

An exchange says: "Now that the 'waterfall' is a little passé, it is rumored that it originated not in Paris, but in India." The luxuriant, glossy tresses of the maidens of the Indies have, for centuries, been celebrated and sung by a thousand bewitched poetasters, while the secret of their highest charms remained undiscovered. It was left to Burnett, the famous Boston chemist, to solve the mystery, in the invention of the article styled "COCOAINE," by which the active principle of cocoa-nut oil (a product which the natives used,) is secured in a deodorized and liquid form, delightfully perfumed and chemically combined with other ingredients. This compound forms an article unrivalled in excellence, upon which the public has, for years, set its seal of enduring approval. Its fame is unrivalled."—Cincinnati Enquirer, Feb. 19, 1865.

Burnett's Cocoaine

Is the hair-dressing which the belles and fashion of this country use. The effect upon the glossiness and richness of the appearance of natural and artificial hair is equally durable, splendid and efficacious.

"Burnett's standard preparations are celebrated throughout the civilized world."—N. Y. Tribune.

Burnett's Standard Preparations

Are just now all the rage among the ladies, who generally indorse them as unrivalled. They express themselves as highly delighted with and dwell with no slight enthusiasm on its wonderful effect in promoting and preserving the beauty of the hair.

Burnett's Cocoaine,

Burnett's Kalliston is equally admired as a healthful, fragant and beautifying cosmetic. Burnett & Co. are also the proprietors of the choice perfume called and of the pleasing dentrifice,

Burnett's Florimel,

Burnett's Oriental Tooth Wash.

They have since added

Burnett's Cologne Water

to the list. It is much admired by connoiseurs, among whom it has acquired the reputation of being second to none other, foreign or domestic.

BURNETT'S FLAVORING EXTRACTS

Take unexceptional rank as the best made in America. They are carefully prepared from fruits and spices of the best quality. Their universal success is based upon their merit. Reference is made to the principal Purveyors, Confectioners and Hotels in the United States.—Chicago Tribune.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS

REGARDING

Burnett's Standard Preparations.

Unequalled among the preparations of American chemists.—True Flag, Boston.

The ladies of our household indorse them as unrivalled.—Home Journal, N. Y.

Enjoy the highest reputation among the ladies.—Louisville Journal.

Deservedly popular.—Cincinnati Commercial.

Are fully established as goods of high order.—Chicago Tribune.

Important auxiliaries to a lady's toilet.—Washington Chronicle.

Of approved usefulness—all that they profess to be.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The best preparations of their kind extant.—Sears' National Review.

Remarkable for delicacy, freshness and purity.—Christian Guardian, Toro.

We heartily recommend them to all our readers.—Leslie's Family Magazine.

Once used, they recommend themselves.—Christian Freeman, Boston.

Burnett's reputation is a sufficient guarantee of the excellence of his preparations.—Boston Journal.

We learn from the first confectioner of this city that Burnett's Extracts of Fruits and Flowers are equal to the English articles of the same kind of the highest celebrity.—Montreal Witness.

SUBSTANTIAL TESTIMONY.

NEW YORK, January 6, 1868.

BURNETT'S STANDARD PREPARATIONS rank high among the leading staples in our line of trade. Experience has taught us that a reputation so wide-spread and enviable as that enjoyed by the articles of their manufacture, can only be earned by genuine merit.

Yours, respectfully,

DAMAS BARNES & CO.

The above expresses the opinion of dealers generally. For sale wholesale and retail by all druggists and dealers in medicine.

Burnett's Oriental Tooth Wash

Is a preserver of the teeth, and beautifies them without injury to the enamel. In this respect it stands alone. The evidence of Chemists and of the Dental Faculty substantiates these facts.

Burnett's Florimel

Closely resembles the odor of a rare and delicate boquet of flowers, and in this respect stands unrivalled. A few drops will leave its peculiar and delightful fragrance upon the handkerchief for many hours.

Having made the cultivation of the above Fruits a specialty for a number of years, our collection is much the most complete of any in the country. Our stock of

for sale this Season is very large and superior, which we offer at prices as low as the same QUALITY of a GENUINE article can be had anywhere.

The country is flooded, by unreliable agents, with inferior or spurious stock, which will give nothing but disappointment to the planter. Vast sums of money are thus annually worse than thrown away, and by the time the Vines and Plants should produce fruit, the party who furnished them is out of reach, and the planter has no recourse.

Failure in Small Fruit Culture is generally the result of a choice of inferior varieties and poor stock. We GUARANTEE our stock to give ENTIRE SATISFACTION in GENUINENESS, QUALITY, PRICES, and, with proper culture, YIELD OF FRUIT.

The NEW EDITION of our DESCRIPTIVE and ILLUSTRATED SMALL FRUIT CATALOGUE of 52 pages; and PRICE LIST FOR SPRING OF 1869, will both be sent to all applicants inclosing 10 cents.

Whether Growers wish to purchase stock or not, they will find these two Pamphlets of 68 pages of great value, and worth more than ten times their cost.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

SMYTHE'S

AMERICAN THEATRE,

PENN STREET,

NEAR SIXTH, LATE ST. CLAIR.

W. C. Smythe, Sole Lessee and Manager.

DOORS OPEN AT 7, COMMENCE AT 8 O'CLOCK.

SUCCESS! SUCCESS! SUCCESS!

Crowns every effort of the management. As a proof of the manner in which business is conducted at the

AMERICAN THEATRE,

The Manager respectfully submits to the general public the following copy of the governing each and every performer at his establishment:

Punctuality and attention being necessary to success in business, the Manager deems it expedient to establish the following Rules and Regulations for the purpose of guarding against results which might ensue from the carelessness of those persons who do not sufficiently appreciate the responsibility which they assume in a professional engagement:

FIRST—It is assumed, in all engagements, that the performer is an expert in the business, and fully qualified to perform according to the contract; therefore, incompetency will render the contract null and void, and subject the performer to immediate dismissal from the establishment.

SECOND—All the members of this Company are regarded by the Manager at the time of engagement, as adies and gentlemen; therefore, any conduct which is unbecoming the above mentioned character, or calculated to bring the establishment into disrepute, will subject the offender to immediate dismissal, with forfeit of the salary due at the time of such occurrence.

THIRD—There will be a rehearsal every morning, (Sundays excepted,) at 10 o'clock A. M., unless otherwise arranged by the Stage Manager.

FOURTH—Being late at Rehearsal, (ten minutes being allowed for difference of clocks,) $1, Being absent the entire Rehearsal, $3.

FIFTH—Any member making unnecessary noise behind the Curtain, either on the Stage or in the Dressing Room, during the time of the performance, will forfeit 25 cents.

SIXTH—Any member bringing strangers behind the Curtain, or on the Stage, or into the Dressing Room, without the consent of the Manager, will forfeit $10.

SEVENTH—The Stage Door is the proper entrance for the members of the Company, and any performer passing through the auditorium after the hour of opening, will forfeit $5.

EIGHTH—Persons commencing the evening performance must be ready at the time advertised in the Programme of the day; $5 will be exacted for a failure to comply with this rule, and $1 forfeit will be exacted from any performe who shall make an unnecessary stage wait during the performance.

NINTH—Every performer is expected to accept an encore when the bell is rung by the Stage Manager. His decision is alone considered necessary. Failing to comply incurs a forfeit of $5.

The Stage Manager and Ballet Master will hand their weekly accounts of forfeits to the undersigned on each Saturday evening.

W. C. SMYTHE.

The above rules are deemed sufficient to satisfy the public that none but the Best and Most Talented Performers,

Ever appear at the AMERICAN.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, March 19, 1869.

If a declining and sick market is what the bears desire, they certainly had a triumph to-day, as at no time since the reaction set in, has the market been so decidedly and completely under the control of the bear element. The volume of business was unusually heavy, the sales in the aggregate being larger than during any preceding day within the past two or three months, while prices have fallen off, since yesterday, about one cent on Crude and from one two cents on Refined. The great proportion of this oil was doubtless bought by the "shorts," many of whom will realize very handsomely out of it, while others have got off a good deal easier than they had reason to expect a very few days ago.

The stocks in the east are reported unusually and unexpectedly heavy, about 140,000 bbls (crude and refined) in New York alone, and over 40,000 bbls refined in Philadelphia. Until within the past few days, it was generally believed that there was no accumulation at either of these points, the very light shipments from this place, giving strenght to such a conviction, but it now appears that Cleveland, the oil regions, and other places have been pouring in a heavy stream, and it must have been these places that glutted the eastern markets. It is said, however, that the stocks in the places which have been shipping so freely, is considerably reduced, and that while there is an increase on the one hand there is a falling off on the other.

CRUDE—As already intimated the market was considerably excited to-day, the sales in the aggregate being unusually heavy, while, compared with yesterday prices are lower. Sales reported at Oil City, on spot at $5,60. Sales here were as follows:

2,500	bbls first water	14½
2,000	" seller 60 days	14½
500	" seller all year	14½
1,000	" March, seller	14¾
1,000	" till July, seller	14½
15,000	" next six months, seller	14½
1,000	" next fifteen days seller	14

REFINED—The operations in Refined were also unusually large in the aggregate, but as in the case of Crude, prices are considerably lower. We quote as follows:

1,000	April, last half	32
1,000	" "	31½
500	each April, May, 32½, June July	34
500	March	30
500	April, last half	31
500	each May to September	34½

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, March 19.—The break in prints has become more general, and there is great excitement in the market to-day. Pacific Mills have reduced the price of their goods to 12½c, and are selling rapidly, as are also the Amoskeag, which reduced to 11½c. Cottonades are offered at reduced prices, as well as fancy cassimeres of desirable makes, which are selling at a loss price generally, and have now found a level, and trade is about starting in right good earnest. Printing cloths have declined to 8c, and move slow even at the reduction.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, March 19, 1869.

Business, we regret to state, continues very dull, though hopes are still entertained of an early improvement. The demand for everything continues light, being confined entirely to supplying immediate wants, while prices generally have undergone no change. Flour is dull as ever, and the same is true of Grain. Provisions are a shade stronger but unchanged, and but little improvement in the demand. Sugars are very dull and the sams is true of Molasses and Syrups. The excitement which prevailed some weeks since has entirely subsided, and it is probable that there are some who got enough of "sweets" to make them sick.

APPLE BUTTER—Demand fair and market steady at 80@90c.

PITTSBURGH METAL MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, March 19, 1869.

The market has been quiet during the past week the volume of business in the aggregate being comparatively light, while prices have undergone no important change. The demand for mill irons has fallen off somewhat but for Foundary irons especially, for desirable brands, there is rather more inquiry, and with a limited supply, prices are relatively better than in the case of mill irons. There is, however, no great accumulation of stock, and there is but very little Western irons on the market, the great proportion of that now arriving, being put in on former contracts. It is said, however, that there is rather more eastern iron offering than usual, and as a general thing the tendency for eastern brands seems to be downward, though, as yet, there has been no actual decline. The following sales were reported:

REFORMATION OF INEBRIATES.

From a letter to the New York Tribune we make the following extracts:

Binghampton has about fifteen thousand inhabitants; it is on the New York and Erie Railroad, and at the junction of the Chenango and Susquehanna rivers. Two miles distant, and on a hill overlooking the Susquehanna and a wide extent of mountain country and valley, stands the State Asylum for Inebriates. The front is 360 feet long, and three stories, and there are wings of about the same extent. It is built of the Onondaga limestone, and it has the general appearance of a European castle. The cost exceeded $500,000.

The rooms for the patients are, in almost every respect, similar to the rooms appropriated to guests in a hotel, being well furnished, heated by a furnace and lighted with gas, and they are supplied with water coming from mountain springs. An elegant parlor, containing a piano, is open to all; there is a library of 1,100 volumes, a reading-room where leading newspapers are on file; there are bath-rooms, billiard tables, and a ball alley. The ceilings are lofty, the finish of the rooms solid, and even costly. A better idea would be conveyed if the word Cure were used instead of the word Asylum, for the general impression is such as is received on visiting a hygienic establishment.

The patients are not confined, still, there are regulations which are submitted to, because they are manifestly reasonable. There is perfect freedom to go in and out, nor are there locks, sentinels, or surrounding walls. But if one wishes to go in the city, permission is asked, and, if granted, a pass is given. Of the eighty-six patients, ten or twelve are generally refused a pass, because they are known to be unfaithful, that is, they will get drunk if they can, although a dealer is liable in a heavy penalty for supplying them with liquor. When a patient betrays his trust, and either comes back or is found in the city drunk, he is confined in a cell two or three days, when he is labored with, shown how weak he is, and that he cannot be permitted to leave the grounds for a considerable period.

In the large dining hall one will see all the inmates. There are many tables. The stylish and clean crockery, the high silver-plated castors, the plumes of celery and the white napkins, each in its ring, give an air of elegance and refinement. When all are seated there is a pause, then a bell is touched, when the voice of the chaplain is heard invoking the Divine blessing. From the place where I sat a full view was obtained. The youngest were about twenty years old, the oldest probably fifty, but the average did not much exceed thirty. Here and there are traces of inebriety, but the greater part appear to be proper men. They were every way well and even fashionably dressed, and their behavior and general conduct were such as characterized gentlemen. The truth is, they belong to the best class in our county; they are used to good society and, generally, they are well educated. That they have come hither for treatment is an evidence that the intellectual and moral struggle for predominance. There are about ten free patients: others pay from $7 to 12 a week, according to their means, but no distinctions are made, and it is not to be supposed that they who are rich and pay most, know which pay least. There are literary and professional men, among which are farmers, merchants, bankers, clerks and three clergymen. To treat a patient sucessfully, it is necessary that he have certain qualifications. He must be a man of feeling, that an appeal may be made; he must be intelligent, that he may be taught, and he must have honor, that he may be trusted. It is conceded that the institution would be a failure if the patients were ignorant, brutal and depraved. Little good is expected from a patient who does not come voluntarily.

The number of patients since May, 1867, has been 310, and of these 147 were periodical drinkers, 163 constant ones; 146 were married, and 164 were single. The number known to have reformed, after the second trial 11, after a third 3. Of 25 there is no hope. Owing to distance or other causes, 68 have not been heard from. Six used opium.

A patient is not warranted a cure. From the first he is told that he must nerve himself up for the work. What frequently has been advertised as a cure for drunkenness is an imposition, for it is an emetic. The medicine which is considered of greatest value is bromide of potassium, given in well diluted doses of from 20 to 40 grains every four or five hours, or, in cases of great nervous exhaustion, the doses may be increased. It has been known that this salt acts upon the nervous centers, but it is a recent discovery that it has a specific action upon the brain and spinal marrow. In an incipient stage of mania it is of great value. The average time required for a cure is four months, while some stay a year.

Drunkenness is called a disease, but more properly it lays the foundation for disease, such as delirium, dyspepsia, insanity, general nervous disorders, inflammation of the brain, epilepsy, enlargement of the heart, liver and kidney diseases, including Bright's disease, erysipelas, and, lastly, by impoverishing the blood, consumption. It also prepares the system for the reception of the virus of cholera, yellow fever, and pestilence generally, while it has a most powerful tendency to develop hereditary diseases which otherwise would be dormant. The first step in treatment is, of course, total abstinence, and next, to restore the degenerated vital powers.

Dr. Day has discovered by a microscopic examination that alcohol opens a series of cells in the brain which never afterward wholly collapse, and thus, while life lasts, they remain always ready to receive the spirit of the invisible demon. For this reason there can be no permanent cure for drunkenness, and in carrying out the work of reformation this fact is impressed upon the patient. Sometimes it is enforced in a most terrible manner. Dr. Day is familiar with such cases; indeed, with some, such an experience is included in the process of cure. They must learn that they cannot trust themselves, and that the only man who has self-control is he who never drank. There must be a profound realization that when he became a drunkard he lost his self-control, that it can never come again, and that the only power left him is the power of resistance. Dr. Day mentions that when patients leave he is in the habit of presenting a copy of the Bible, with a request that they read every day the marked passages, and that when the request is complied with he has never known one to fall. "Preserve me, O God, for in Thee do I put my trust." "Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquity." "I was a reproach among all mine enemies, especially among my neighbors, and a fear to my acquaintances." "O, spare me, that I may recover strength before I go hence and be no more." "Remember not the sins of my youth, nor my transgressions; according to Thy mercy remember Thou me."

With the stupid, the young, the depraved, and the involuntary, reform is difficult. Generally, a reform is more easily effected in those of middle age, who can be useful to their friends and to society. They who have suffered most by disgrace, disaster, and remorse, will make such efforts as are most likely to be crowned with success.

Regarding the adulteration of alcoholic drinks, Dr. Day said that the harm they do is of such little consequence as to be scarcely worth estimating; for the question as to whether they are poisonous is an insignificent one in comparison with the deadly quality of alcohol; for they dilute, they do not change. When a victim is shot through the head, a stab with a knife cannot add to the fatality. Wine and beer contain less alcohol than whiskey, and because they contain less they are peculiarly fitted for preparing the way for stronger drinks.

A sensation was created by a statement that several hundred rich men had made application for admission to this asylum for their daughters, but it was denied, with the remark that American women are not intemperate. This every one believes to be true. Still, it is admitted that as many as 50 applications have been made, some of which, however, were opium cases. But when we consider that no idea had ever been conveyed that this institution would receive females, and that the existence of the habit, naturally, would be kept secret, the fact that even a small number of applications had been made, would indicate that, comparatively, a large number of inebriate females really does exist. The fashionable custom of wine drinking would lead to this conclusion without other evidence, and it may confidently be predicted that, be the present number small or large, it is destined to be increased.

The question arises whether this Asylum is a success. I would say that, for persons of standing, of culture, and of self-respect, it is a decided success, and it should be encouraged. If it seems more suited for the rich than the poor, it must be considered that rich people have claims as well as poor people, for they are by no means exempt from taxation, and if they can be enlisted in the reformation, an important step forward will be made. Some of the most unflinching advocates of temperance have already issued from this asylum, and temperance lecturers of marked ability undoubtedly will be added to teach that alcohol is the most deadly enemy of the human race.

The Death of Gen. Phil. Kearney.

We are informed by a prominent lawyer of this city, that while sojourning in Amboy last night he passed a pleasant hour in company with a former rebel officer, who was attached to Stonewall Jackson's division of the Confederate army during the war, and who related an interesting reminiscence of the death of General Kearney, of which sad event he was an eye witness. "The gallant Kearney," he said, "received his death wound from a private in my command, and when he fell from his horse I hastened with many others to the point where he lay, not supposing that his wound was a mortal one. Just as we reached his body, however, his limbs gave one convulsive quiver, and then all was over. Seeing that he was a Major General, word was sent to headquarters to that effect, and General Jackson coming to the spot immediately, gave one glance at the dead officer's features, and exclaimed, 'My God, boys, do you know who you have killed? You have shot the most gallant officer in the United States army. This is Phil. Kearney, who lost his arm in the Mexican war.' He then involuntarily lifted his hat, every officer in the group following his example, and for a moment a reverential silence was observed by all. Subsequently the body of the dead soldier was placed upon two boards, and when being removed to headquarters, was followed by General Jackson, General Ewell and other officers, while a regimental band preceded it, playing a dead march."

Wealthy Meanness.

A New York letter says: "A very large and properous publishing firm here is notorious for its meanness. It pays such small prices for literary work that the wonder is it can find any one to do it. Men who write, however, are usually impractical and short of funds, so the mystery is easily explained. The house issued some years since a very important work on which they have made $700,000 or $800,000, and the price it paid many contributors was only $1,00 a page.

"Not long ago the house employed a well-known litteratuer to do some writing It was done after some weeks of hard work, and the price determined on was so low that the author complained. He was told it was all that the firm could afford to pay. Consequently he agreed to accept it, his circumstances being pressing. Imagine his surprise when one of the members of the house, instead of a bank check, handed him a note payable in ninety days. He said he wanted the cash very much, and thought he ought to have it, 'O, well,' remarked the publisher, 'if you must have the cash we'll discount the note at one per cent. a month, which is the best that we can do.'

"'You're a set of miserly scoundrels,' roared out the author, and then left the store madder than a thousand hornets."

THE veteran Shaksperian scholars, Charles and Mary Cowden Clarke, have now printed their annotated edition of Shakspeare—one for "family circles." From it are excluded phrases not thought objectionable at the time when Shaksperare wrote, but which are not exactly fit for modern utterance. "So unwilling were we," says the editors, "that any marring should occur in the pleasure of an assembled home, met together to enjoy the dramatist's pages—the father, perhaps, reading to the rest while they pursued their several occupations; the mother and girls at their sewing; the boys with slates or sketching—that we made the omission of expressions that might have checked the reader aloud."

AMONG the officers left without commands by the consolidation of regiments, are Doubleday, Sickles, De Trobriand, Wager, Swayne and Butterfield. General Sherman suggested yesterday that the pay of officers waiting orders might properly be reduced.

ECONOMY BUTTER CO.

ask the attention of all interested in the reduction of the extravagant cost of Butter, to their practical and economical system of making pure prime Butter by the aid of the

EXTRACT OF BUTTER PLANT.

A brief allusion to the origin of this important discovery may not prove uninteresting. Among the authenticated records of the renowned Captain Cook's voyage around the world, is found the statement, that while sojourning for a short time on the Brazilian Coast of South America, he observed the natives using, in the preparation of their food, a peculiar oil, which, upon examination, he found to possess the appearance, taste and flavor of Butter; upon further inquiry, however, he ascertained that it was simply a substance that the natives distilled in a crude and imperfect manner, from a rich and luxuriant plant that grew spontaneously and abundantly in that warm tropical country. A few years an eminent French chemist, while on a professional visit to the tropics, made numerous experiments with this remarkable production of nature, and succeeded in extracting a concentrated essence of the plant. The formula for its preparation, and the Sole Right for its sale in this country are the exclusive property of this Company, by whom it was purchased from the original discoverer. We claim for this remarkable, yet simple and perfectly harmless preparation—

1ts.—That by its use a net gain of from 50 to 200 per cent. is made in the manufacture of Butter.

2d.—That Butter, which from age or whatever cause, may be strong, rancid, streaked or coarse-grained, and comparat

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Mayor Drum of Allegheny returned home last evening.

Yesterday was a remarkably dark day, even for Pittsburgh.

"House Cleaning" will soon be the order of the day among good housewives.

Two common cases were disposed of in the usual way at the Allegheny Mayor's office yesterday morning.

New Publications.—The announcement of J. B. Lippincott & Co's. new publications will be found on the fifth page of to-day's paper.

Acting Mayor Bowden, of Allegheny, fined a countryman two dollars and a half, yesterday, for driving over the sidewalk in the Diamond.

New Bell.—The Second Ward, Allegheny, Public School House has been furnished with a new bell in place of the old one, which was broken some time ago.

Latest Monthlies.—W. A. Gildenfenney, No. 45 Fifth avenue, has received the April numbers of the "Atlantic Monthly," "Godey's Lady's Book," and "Our Young Folks."

Call in at the Universalist Fair, on the corner of Third avenue and Grant street, to-night and take part in the pleasures of the occasion. The velocipede, with the exploits and manoevres thereon, cause infinite merriment.

Mr Charles Thompson, a resident of Allegheny, while exercising on a velocipede on Sixth (St. Clair) street, yesterday morning, ran into a passing vehicle. The bicycle was demolished, but Mr. Thompson fortunately escaped serious injury.

April Magazines.—Pittock, newsdealer, opposite the Postoffice, Fifth avenue, has sent us the Atlantic, Godey's and Harper's Monthlies for April. They are filled with interesting and instructive reading matter. Pittock has received all the April magazines. The leading weeklies, literary, political and pictorial, will also be found on his counters.

Important to Pennsylvania Reserves.—By the provisions of the act of the 3d inst., soldiers discharged by reason of "expiration of term of service," are entitled as though they served their full term of enlistment. This will give to each member of the Reserve corps who has not received a hundred dollars additional bounty, fifty dollars more. For further information apply to Hall Patterson, No. 71 Grant street.

Cross Suit.—We gave the particulars yesterday of a case of assault and battery and trespass, in which Philip Young, a saloon keeper in Sharpsburg, appeared as prosecutor, and George Beilstein one of the three defendants. Subsequently Beilstein made information before Alderman Mullen again Young for selling liquor to minors. The alleged offence consists in selling liquor to George Beilstein Jr., a youth about sixteen years of age. The accused was arrested and after a hearing, in default of bail in the sum of three hundred dollars, committed for trial.

City Insurance.

The Committee on City Property of the Allegheny Councils have awarded the insurance on the City Buildings to the Eureka, Monongahela and Boatmen's Insurance Companies of this city, for three years, they having been the lowest and best bidders for the contract as authorized by a resolution recently passed by the Councils. The whole amount of insurance is $55,000, of which $25,000 is on City Hall and $10,000 on the Market House. The risk is at the rate of 33½ cents per hundred for the three years.

Elegant Accoutrements.

The silver lantern awarded to the most popular Railroad Conductor by the Wesley Chapel Fair, was handed over yesterday to Mr. C. M. Ludwick, Conductor on the Western Pennsylvania road, he having received the majority of votes. The lamp presented was worth several hundred dollars, being of pure coin metal, of exquisite workmanship, manufactured by Mr. Dunseath, the well-known Fifth avenue jeweller. Mr. Hugh Forrester was at the same time presented with a handsome silver-plated lantern in token of appreciation.

Special Appointment.

Special policemen have been appointed by the Allegheny Park Commissioners to prevent all trespassing on the grounds under their care, or in any way injuring the trees, plants, flowers, &c., on the same. This action has been found necessary to properly protect the Park from the raids made upon it by vicious boys and others, who have heretofore roamed recklessly over the flower beds, &c., doing considerable damage thereby. There is an ordinance, recently passed by Councils, in reference to this matter, which the Commissioners are determined to rigidly enforce.

Mortuary Report.

Dr. W. Snively, Physician of the Board of Health, reports the following interments in the city of Pittsburgh from March 7 to March 14, 1869.

Males.....	9	Whites.....	22	Total...	22
Females..	13	Colored.....	0

The diseases is the above cases were: Paralysis, 1; Pneumonia, 1; Debility, 1; Congestion of Lungs, 3; Bronchitis; 1; Tubreculosis, 2; Marasmus, 1; Convulsions, 2; Hypertrophy of Heart, 1; Brocho-Pneumonia, 1; Softening of Brain, 1; Measles, 1; Arthritis, 1; Still Born, 3; Hydrocephalus, 1.

Soap Stealing.

A confidence man on a small scale, called at Sawyer & Co.'s store, on Wood street, Thursday afternoon, and represented that he had been sent by Mr. D. T. Johnson, Superintendent of the Allegheny Poor Farm, to get some soap. He obtained five boxes of the article, which he subsequently attempted to dispose of to a grocery keeper in Allegheny. The grocery man, however, from the low price at which the soap was offered, suspected that something was wrong, and after prevailing upon the man to leave it, until the next morning, called upon Messrs. Sawyer & Co., when he learned that the transaction was a fraud. The confidence man must have heard something of the developments, as he failed to call yesterday morning according to his agreement.

SPRING ELECTIONS.

The annual Spring elections were held yesterday in the several townships and boroughs throughout this State. In this locality the day was, as usual, a very disagreeable one, but notwithstanding the inclement weather, so far as we have been able to ascertain, the vote polled was heavier than usual at Spring Elections. We give below the result on the south side of the river, so far as we have been able to ascertain it.

In East Birmingham the contest was attended with unusual interest, as there were several matters of local nature forced into the canvass, and a decided effort was made to defeat the Republican candidate for Burgess, August Ammon, who was misrepresented in many respects, but all to no purpose, as he was elected by a handsome majority.

In Birmingham the contest was as usual a close one, and the result would indicate that party lines have not been drawn very strictly. Justice Salisbury, the Democratic candidate for Burgess, was elected by a small majority, and several of the other offices are filled by Republicans.

In South Pittsburgh the contest was close and resulted in the election of the entire Republican ticket, with one exception.

In Monongahela borough the vote was quite large, but the contest appeared to be a three man affair, as there were three candidates for Burgess, all from the Republican party.

The vote in the several boroughs named was as follows:

Clean Up.

During the winter season there invariably collects around the premises of even the most particular housekeepers a lot of rubbish and garbage, which, with the approach of spring, should be at once removed. Aside from the mere measure of cleanliness, this matter should receive attention more particularly as a matter of health, for there is no fact better established than that filth and dirt around a dwelling is one of the most frequent causes of sickness and disease. There are persons, however, who, notwithstanding they feel this to be true, yet through carelessness or some other feeling allow filth of all kinds to accumulate around their premises and never think of removing it until they are so compelled, either by the complaints of their neighbors, who are the sufferers, or by the enforcement of those laws relative to the matter, which have been enacted by the authorities of every properly governed municipality.

This much preparatory to an announcement which we have been requested to make for the benefit of residents in Allegheny.

It seems by an ordinance recently passed by the City Councils, that the accumulation of garbage or rubbish of any kind, calculated to interfere in any degree with the health of the inhabitants of the city, is strictly forbidden within the corporation limits, the person offending being liable to arrest and fine. In accordance with the provisions of the ordinance, and to ensure its proper enforcement, Mayor Drum has specially appointed policemen for the purpose, and instructed them to arrest any person failing to comply strictly with its terms, upon whom the severest penalties will be imposed.

There are a number of nuisances, which are now in existence, but which will disappear if the ordinance is thus enforced, as it should be, but as none but the guilty will suffer, there can be no just complaint. It would be well, however, for all of our readers to look about them now, just at the opening of Spring, when, if ever, they are liable to offend in this respect, and see to it that they have their premises in proper order. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

Highway Robbery--Speedy Justice.

A highway robbery was perpetrated on Penn street, in the Twelfth ward, Thursday evening, of a very bold and daring character, and the arrest of the perpetrators, we are pleased to state, was as prompt as their crime was daring. Mr. John Lee, residing on St. Clair street, it appears was passing along Penn street at the time stated, when he was attacked by two persons who came up behind and "garroted" him, choking him so severely as to render him powerless and insensible. They then knocked him down and robbed him of his gold watch and part of the chain, which was broken by the thieves in their efforts to secure the watch.

The facts of the robbery were made known to the police, who went promptly to work on the case, and their action was rewarded by the arrest of the perpetrators and the recovery of the property. Lieutenant Joseph Thomas, assisted by officers Weisenberger, Mourer, Garber and Mooney, worked the case up and arrested the thieves within three hours after the robbery was committed. A clue was obtained to the perpetrators by some remarks made by James Dunn, a notorious character, who was convicted, during the present term of Court, of highway robbery, and is now waiting sentence, which led the officers to believe that he, if not implicated in the affair, knew something about it. It was also ascertained that Dunn and James Allen were seen together in the vicinity where the robbery was committed about eight o'clock in the evening, about half an hour after it occurred. The description of the men who perpetrated the robbery, as given by Mr. Lee, accorded with the appearance of Dunn and Allen, and after some little search they were found and taken to the lockup, where Mr. Lee identified them as the men who had robbed him. They were searched and a pawn ticket issued at Le Roy's pawn office found in Dunn's pocket, and on presenting it to Mr. Le Roy the watch taken from Mr. Lee was produced. Mr. Le Roy identified the prisoners as the men who had pawned the watch. They had a hearing before the Mayor, yesterday morning, who after hearing the testimony held them to bail in the sum of $3,000 each for their appearance at Court, in default of which they were committed to jail.

The information was returned to court immediately and the grand jury found a true bill against Dunn and Allen for highway robbery.

Dunn was to have been sentenced today for the conviction above referred to, but he will probably be respited a week longer until the present case is disposed of, when, in all probability, he will be so provided for as to be no further trouble to the community for some time to come.

A Premature Arrest.

Yesterday afternoon Joshua Porter, hailing from Caroline county, Maryland, arrived in this city, having in charge four horses, which it appears were shipped at Clayton, Delaware, for this city.—On his arrival here he had the horses taken from the car and removed them to the stable at the horse market, where he was directed by one of the brakesmen of the road. Shortly after stabling his horses several persons endeavored to purchase a horse from him, and he finally agreed to sell and it appears effected a sale of the four horses for $195. The party purchasing, however, thought he had purchased them too cheap and that there must be something wrong about the matter. The horses were in the stable, and the purchasers refused to pay Reed the stipulated price ($195,) and also refused to let him take the horses away. Reed, who is an ignorant man, not knowing what to do, started to the railroad station to see the man who had directed him to take his horses to that place to ascertain how to proceed in the case, but before he had reached the station he was arrested and conducted to the Mayor's office, where he made the following statement. The horses belonged to his father-in-law, David Porter, who formerly resided in Caroline county, Maryland, but had about a year since moved to Columbus, Ohio, leaving the horses in his possession. He and his brother kept the horses until about a week since, when he determining to try his fortune in the West, shipped his family for Tipton, Clinton county, Indiana, and having previously notified his father-in-law of his intention, was by him directed to sell the horses if he could and if not to bring them with him to Columbus, Ohio, and in accordance with this request he shipped the horses as stated. He says he did not offer to sell the horses until he was asked to do so and he thought $195 was about all they were worth. Chief Butler, after a thorough investigation of the case, could find no reason for detaining the man, putting him to a heavy expense, and decided to let him go on his way, taking the necessary steps, however, to ascertain whether his statement in regard to the matter was true, and providing for his arrest hereafter if there should be anything in the case. Reed gave the names of several parties in Carolina county, Maryland, and also in Delaware, who, he said, knew all about the horses, and requested that they be telegraphed to relative to the affair.

MORTGAGES.

Same day there were six mortgages filed of record.

Honesty the best Policy.

Yesterday morning Johnny Ebberts, one of the train boys employed on the Panhandle Railroad, while passing through the Union Depot picked up a pocket book containing $715, which he handed to the ticket agent. A short time afterwards Mr. Stewart, a drover, called at the ticket office and said he had lost his pocket book, a description of which corresponded with that of the one found. He had placed it in a side pocket, which unfortunately had a hole in it, through which the wallet disappeared. The loss was not discovered until he had proceeded as far as East Liberty on his way east, when he immediately returned to the city. After receiving his money Mr. Stewart, with commendable liberality, rewarded the finder of the seven hundred and fifteen dollars by giving him the odd fifteen dollars.

"True Statesmanship."

Notwithstanding the extreme disagreeableness of the weather, a large and intelligent audience assembled last evening in the Academy of Music to hear Theodore Tilton discourse on "True Statesmanship." The lecturer took the stand about eight o'clock, and for more than an hour entertained the assemblage with his views on the questions of prison discipline, the Indian, emigration, the negro, and woman's rights, which he contended were the great questions demanding settlement from the statesmanship of our country, "true statesmanship" consisting in their adjustment according to the principle enunciated in the Golden Rule.

While the conclusion at which the lecturer ultimately arrived was unquestionably the proper one, there were many arguments and illustrations advanced in support of his theories, which were, to say the least, peculiarly Tiltonish, such as a man of ideals, but not practicalities, might have accepted. The lecture, however, taken altogether, was quite up to the standard and fully sustained the reputation of its celebrated author. Scattered here and there thoughout were beautiful and eloquent passages—like flowers along the wayside—which seemed to touch a sympathetic chord in the hearts of his hearers, and called forth frequent and unfeigned applause.

The next and last lecture of the course will be delivered by James E. Murdoch.

Gold

Has been discovered in very considerable quantities on the lands lately owned by Waterman Palmer, Esq., an analysis of which, at the Philadelphia mint, shows a yield of from $600 to $900 to the ton of rock. The existence of gold in Marquette county has long been known and acknowledged, but it was not believed to be of sufficient importance to warrant any considerable expense in the way of exploration. This latest dicovery seems to warrant the belief that iron is not our only source of wealth, and it is not impossible that Lake Superior may ere long be set down as one of the gold producing districts of the United States.—Lake Superior Mining Journal, March 10th.

The tract of lands alluded to in the above consists of 3,120 acres, in Marquette co., Michigan, three miles south of the town of Negaune, and on the brauch of the Peninsula Railroad. The property is now owned by Messrs Wm. Bagaley, S. H. Hartman, Samuel Riddle, Wm. Smith and Andrew Kloman, of the city, and Messrs W. Palmer and Thomas Woods, of Philadelphia. We congratulate these gentlemen upon the recent discoveries of Gold, in addition to the previously known rich deposits of Iron Ore, upon their property. When the Michi ganders lay golden eggs, who cares for the National debt?

The Continental.

We have repeatedly called the attention of our readers to the Continental Dining Rooms, Fifth avenue, next door to the Postoffice, over which Mr. Holtzheimer presides, and desire to do so again. It is not from any desire, however, to especially benefit Mr. Holtzheimer that we do so, but rather with a view to benefiting the public, in whose welfare we are at all times interested. If there is an institution in this city in which the public are interested, it is our duty to set forth its advantages and the benefits to be derived from it, and it is in this spirit that we refer to the Continental. There are numerous persons in the city, and hundreds of strangers who come in daily, who are interested in the matter of dining saloons, and desire to know where they can get a good "square meal" on short notice. We refer them to the Continental.

Segars—Where to Get Them.

It is scarcely necessary for us to inform our city readers where to purchase a first-class article of segars and tobacco, as there is not a lover of the weed in the twenty three wards who does not know that John Megraw, No. 45 Hand street, keeps constantly on hand a superior stock of tobacco and segars, embracing all the choicest brands of the latter and the best of the former from the most reliable manufacturers. But we have a host of country readers whose only means of ascertaining this important fact is perhaps through our columns, and it is for their benefit we make the announcement. Retail dealers will find it to their advantage to give Mr. Megraw a call.
